

SLOWLY FALLING

The Flood Situation in the Southern States Has Slightly Improved in Some Places.

A BAPTIST PREACHER WAS DROWNED

It is Thought That Other Lives Have Been Lost as Many Places Are Unheard From.

Enterprise, Stonewall and Quitman Relieved, but Many Other Isolated Towns Are Probably Short of Foodstuff—Repair Work.

Mobile, Ala., April 25.—Advices from the flooded districts on the Mobile & Ohio railroad are to the effect that trains will run through possibly until Sunday next. Two thousand men are at work between here and Meridian. The water has been slowly subsiding, but the rains of the past 24 hours will be felt considerably.

Rev. W. F. Russell, a Baptist preacher, was drowned in the Mississippi at Waynesboro, Miss. Other lives are thought to have been lost, but nothing definite will be known for several days yet.

The situation on the Louisville & Nashville and the Georgia railroads. One thousand men are at work repairing the bridge that was swept away at Pasco, and everything is going on as rapidly as possible to get things in shape. The water is slowly falling, and the 3,000 men now on the road are in the boats, with great excellent prospects of holding them together until the danger is passed.

Traffic on the Alabama & Vieksburg and New Orleans & Northeastern railroads is still indefinitely annulled. For the past week the two mixed trains south to Quinton at the rate of six miles an hour. This relieves the citizens of Enterprise, Stonewall and Quitman who were in desperate straits, as foodstuff was very short. No relief is in sight for other isolated towns. The body of a victim of the flood was found near Meridian.

THE PRESIDENT AT CANTON.

In Defense to His Wishes No Public Demonstration Was Arranged, as It Generally is the Case.

Canton, Ohio, April 25.—President and Mrs. McKinley and party arrived in the city at 10:10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the Pullman cars Olympia and Mercurio being attached to the regular Pennsylvania train for their reception.

In deference to the announcement of the president's friends that he came here for rest from public cares and to look after private affairs, no public demonstration was arranged, as it is generally the case when the president comes to his home. A great crowd of friends and fellow citizens at the station when the train rolled in and a mighty volume of cheers were up as the president and Mrs. McKinley stepped from the cars.

An informal reception committee was also at the station to bid welcome to the distinguished arrivals, composed of representative, professional and business men and the heads of various organizations who had driven to the station in carriages.

On returning from the cemetery President McKinley paid a visit to the government building to call on Judge Day and Postmaster Frease. He also called on the president of the bank and office block and met his tenants. The evening was quietly passed at the Barber home. Scores of old neighbors and friends called to pay their respects.

At 8:35 o'clock this morning the party started for Cleveland, a private car Olympia being attached to the regular train. It will return on a regular train this evening. The Cleveland trip, it is announced, is a purely personal matter and made wholly at the expense of the president. Mrs. Helen McKinley and Mrs. A. J. Duncan, the president and party will leave Canton at 4 o'clock on Thursday evening on the Pennsylvania lines, going as a special to Pittsburgh, where their cars will be attached to the regular train for Washington.

He returned to Dayton on Sunday afternoon and met his wife at her mother's home on Ludlow street and held a long conversation with her. They met again after supper and together went to their death.

The entire absence of the group is thought to be due to the financial troubles.

Financial troubles also probably figured in it, as Deady spent an unsuccessful day in trying to borrow money. Both bodies were recovered.

FRUIT JAR FACTORY BURNED.

Fairmount, Ind., April 25.—The most costly fire in the Indiana glass belt for many months started at midnight in here in ware shops of three Boers.

Boers had been at work on glassware consumed, the estimated loss is $150,000, with insurance to the amount of $70,000.

This represents almost an entire season's work as the heavy shipments had not been sent out. The fire burned all night, and its origin is unknown.

Afr., for distribution among the British soldiers held as prisoners by the Boers.

THE BOERS MAKE A DETERMINED ADVANCE, BUT RECOIL UNDER A HEAVY BRITISH FIRE.

Moscow, Russia, April 25.—The Boers severely attacked Col. Dalgety's northern position, facing Bokperton Action, under whose fire they made a determined advance. The British returned a heavy fire, before which the Boers receded after extending across the flats and maintaining a continuous long-range fusillade for some hours.

Artillery can be heard in the direction of Dewetsdorp, but there is no sign that the British regulars, under the mother superior and various sisters, are prepared to meet the Boers.

WHAT PAUL SAID.

Charlie Townsend "Reminded" By a Sermon By Dr. J. S. Sims.

Charlie Townsend, the well-known Lexington Bohemian, in a "skit" in The Leader, tells this good one:

I went to Church today and heard Dr. Sims preach about "Paul and His Themo." Dr. Sims is an able man and a fine Preacher. He made Paul out one of the greatest of the great men of any age. While he was talking about what Paul did and said, the devil refreshed my memory about a story I heard on a good Baptist Preacher down in Western Kentucky. The old Preacher loved corn juice and lived near a distillery. The distiller's name was Paul. One Sunday morning the man of God sent his Negro man down to the still on the quiet to slip him a jug, with orders to come on to Church as soon as he returned. The Negro arrived at the Church and was about to take his seat in the gallery when his master bawled out long and loud—

"What did Paul say?"
The untrained Negro answered quick and sharp—

"He said you can't get no whisky till you pay for what you done got."

A MEASURE OF MERIT.

Maggile Citizens Should Weigh Well Their Evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence. Convincing evidence in Maysville. Is not the testimony of strangers, But the indorsement of Maysville people.

That's the kind of proof given here. The statement of a Maysville citizen, Mrs. John E. Burns of West End, near Pogue's, says:

"I am greatly pleased with the benefits I received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at J. Jas. Wood & Son's Drugstore, corner West Second and Market streets. Use proved them to be the best kidney remedy I know of. I have heard a number of persons speak of the great relief obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

TAYLOR CRITICS.

How Justus Goebel's State Views the Kentucky Situation.

Phoenix (Ariz.) Republican.

A good deal of cheap criticism is leveled at Governor Taylor of Kentucky, because he does not stop his fight with the adverse decision of the Court of Appeals of his state, but proposes to apply for a writ of error to the United States Supreme Court. They say that his fight is hopeless and that it is not the proper case to prolong the unpleasantness.

But Taylor as a claimant for office is dwarfed by the real issue in Kentucky. The governorship has already ruined him financially, all his little fortune having gone up in litigation. The question is, what recourse, if any, has the majority of the electors in Kentucky—or any other state—against the reversal of an election by the Legislature and the state Courts for partisan advantage? It is a serious question, because the answer may determine whether or not civil war is the only remedy for such an outrage on the rights of the people as has been perpetrated in Kentucky. Certainly not a straw that promises safety ought to be disregarded, not an opportunity to spread the Kentucky record where it Neurotic pains, rheumatism, lameness, etc., are cured by the well-known and effective influence of Ballard's Snow Liniment. Price, 25 and 50 cents. J. Jas. Wood & Son.

RIVER NEWS.

The Sandy river is rising.

The Keystone State will pass down tonight from Pittsburgh.

Rivers falling at headwaters, but the Ohio is rising a little here.

About 2,500,000 bushels of coal are loaded at Pittsburgh in barges awaiting shipment.

Several Ripley capitalists have purchased a small gasoline boat for pleasure.

The summer will pass up tonight for Pomeroy, and the Lizzie Bell will down tonight from that point.

The big City of Pittsburgh, with the best freight trip she has yet handled out of Pittsburgh and a number of round-trippers, will pass down tomorrow for Louisville.

The annual report of Wharfmaster Green, of Memphis, shows, among other things, that the trade by water is growing steadily, and that instead of decreasing the value of the river as a means of transportation the appearance of railroads of late has, in a way, improved it.

The Town Council of Clarington, Ohio, has decided to allow the city ordinances regulating the price of wharfage to remain as they are. Under the old system the owners of the steamer Leroy, which runs in the Wheeling and Clarington trade, is a member of the Town Council. His brother is Mayor. Other Ohio river steamboat owners say that the river is not giving the water any concern, having signs of improvement to pass the price. It is thought that he will reap the benefit of the ordinance. Thus another Trust is thrust upon the market.

Belle Vernon, on the Monongahela river, can boast of having a ferry in existence, inasmuch as it is operated by one man, and that one man is not required to have a license of any kind from the Steamboat Inspectors, and because it operates in direct opposition to a bridge across the river, the trusty old steamer is in no way for its owner, Mr. Fred Speers.

The Speers family has operated a ferry at Belle Vernon for many years, but a comparatively short time ago a bridge was built across the river and the earnings of the ferry were greatly lessened.

Mr. Speers is now trying to solve the problem of how he can run in opposition to the bridge, and he has evidently solved the problem. Securing a steam engine, he placed it on the river bank. He then took a wire rope and fastened one end to his boat and the other to the end of the ferry though a pulley on the opposite bank of the river, then back again and over a drum connected with his engine and then fastened it to the other end of the ferry. As the engine starts the flat is run quickly across the river and reversing the engine, the flat is run back again.

The trip is made in two minutes. A comfortable waiting-room is fixed up on the flat, and passengers can ride across the river on the ferry while they would have to walk on the bridge. Mr. Speers, besides, has the right to charge 50 cents for crossing. The bridge company cut rates to one cent for passengers and a low rate for teams, but the ferry does fully nine-tenths of the business.

NOTE: Heater in Town.

The greatest healer of modern times is Balsam Salve, for cuts, wounds, sores, piles and all skin diseases. Guaranteed. J. Jas. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.

may be read by all men should be thrown away.

The situation is of the most serious character. It involves a tremendous question that may come home to the people of any state in the Union at any moment, and the Governor, so far as his individual right to the office is concerned, is submerged in the greater question of the liberties and political rights of the people. As he happens to be the legal representative of a swindled majority of the people of Kentucky he has no moral right to surrender so long as even the vestige of a trial to a peaceful and righteous solution of the grave question involved appears to be left untried.

It is true that the chances for justice in the Federal Court, owing to Constitutional limitations, may be remote, but the application of the majority of the electors of Kentucky to the Federal authority for justice, even if it fails, will still be of use as a method of giving the widest publicity to the uttermost outrage that has been perpetrated by the Legislative majority of Kentucky, a method of exposing the frauds and barefaced frauds in counting the votes in the several Districts where the Republicans had an indisputable majority. Taylor would be culpable if he left any stone unturned in his search for justice. It will be worth something to demand that there is no recourse but violence against a political crime of this nature.

Representative Dr. Charles M. Munn of Louisville obtained a $500 scholarship in the Census Bureau. He has also made application for the extension of rural delivery service through the counties of Bourbon and Scott.

QUESTION ANSWERED.

Yes, August 1st will have the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your brothers and grandmothers never heard of such a sale. The reason is that the Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart Disease. They had to go to the apothecary to get the system and the stomach of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the heart, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by J. Jas. Wood & Son.
